“EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE”

Transform knowledge acquired from The Nineteenth National Nursing Research Conference into results for you and your organization. This conference provides a wide spectrum of research that can be easily applied to your work setting. Your participation will be an energizing experience as you network with your cohorts in discussing innovative strategies for implementing evidence-based research into your practice as a clinician and researcher.

Dr. Carolyn Mosley is currently Professor and Dean of the College of Health Sciences at the University of Arkansas - Fort Smith. In this role, she is responsible for five nursing programs, dental hygiene, surgical technology, radiography, diagnostic medical sonography, pharmacy technician, emergency medical technician, the dental hygiene clinic, the student health clinic, the counseling clinic, and all medical terminology, first aid and CPR courses. Dr. Mosley has an abundance of educational and clinical experiences, community service activities and numerous recognitions and honors. Dr. Mosley is a Fellow in the American Academy of Nursing and is a Fellow in the Academy of Nursing Education. She was a recipient last year of the 2011 National Trio Achiever Award, given to recognize and honor former TRIO participants. The award is given by the Council for Opportunity in Education.

Dr. Mosley has also been inducted into the Hall of Fame of the Louisiana State Nurses Association, serves as a Human Rights Expert to the International Council of Nursing; is recognized as one of the top 100 distinguished alumni of Texas Woman’s University; is a recipient of the Rosalyn Carter Caregiving Award, the Robert Wood Johnson Executive Nurse Fellow Award, and is a University of Pennsylvania Research Fellow. Dr. Mosley has written more than 200 articles for a weekly health column in New Orleans, Louisiana and has held numerous leadership positions.

Currently, Dr. Mosley serves as the immediate past president of the Board of Directors of the Good Samaritan Health Clinic and is chair of Sparks Regional Medical Center Investigational Review Board.
